

Controversy Deepened On One-Man, One-Vote

Congress Handed Tough Bill

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was caught today in a deepening controversy over the Supreme Court's ruling that state legislatures must be reapportioned on a "one-man, one-vote" basis.

In the Senate, opponents of any delay in carrying out the court's ruling threaten drawnout debate on a delaying proposal that Senate leaders want to attach to the foreign aid bill.

In the House, a tough new bill that would strip the federal courts of any jurisdiction over state reapportionment cases has suddenly been dumped on the speaker's table, where it is ticking like a time bomb.

The House bill, authored by Rep. William M. Tucker, D-Va., was sprung on the unsuspecting supporters of the court by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., the chairman of the House Rules Committee. He won a 10-4 vote in his committee to send the bill to the House floor before his opponents had time to figure out what was happening.

By the time they did, the Tucker bill was in their laps, and after a close look at it, a lot of them have decided that the Senate proposal looks good.

Worked out by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen in conjunction with the Justice Department, it would permit states to delay reapportionment until Jan. 1, 1966, "in the absence of highly unusual circumstances."

It was the addition of those last seven words to Dirksen's original proposal for an unconditional delay that triggered Smith's action on the Tucker bill.

Tucker's bill, which he called "a simple measure," has only two provisions. One says the Supreme Court shall no longer have the right to review state reapportionment cases coming from any federal court or state supreme court.

The other says the federal district courts shall have no jurisdiction over any state reapportionment cases.

If sending it to the House floor the Rules Committee resorted to a little-used procedure that permits it to take any bill away from a House legislative committee — in this case the Judiciary Committee.

The net effect of it all is to leave both houses in a highly uncertain state over all pending legislation and in a gloomy condition over the prospects of adjourning before the Democratic National Convention starts in Atlantic City Aug. 24.

Mrs. LBJ Goes To Montana And Old West

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson heads for Montana and Indian country today on the first leg of her 4,200-mile, four-day Western journey.

For her look at the historic West, the President's wife traveled 20th-century style — in a big chartered plane.

The party of 58, including reporters and photographers, fly to Billings, Mont., with a half-hour refueling stop at Minneapolis en route.

Mrs. Johnson's trip will give her a fast look at some of the West's old mining towns, scenic tourist attractions and landmarks. She'll go into Utah and Wyoming as well as Montana.

The first day was to be devoted to looking over the 1.5 million-acre Crow Indian Reservation, west of Billings, where ceremonies, tribal dances and songs were prepared in her honor by Crow and neighboring Northern Cheyenne Indians.

Montana is observing its centennial this year.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, accompanying Mrs. Johnson, said as far as anyone in his department could recall, this was the first time any First Lady had gone out to take a look at an Indian Reservation and this kind of interest was "an exciting thing for the Indian people."

They even sent to the White House to get Mrs. Johnson's shoe size (7½ narrow) so they could make her moccasins to be presented as a gift along with Indian jewelry.

The daylong excursion into the Indian country was to end in time for Mrs. Johnson's plane to get to Jackson, Wyo., by nightfall.

She will be staying overnight throughout the four-day trip at Jackson Lake Lodge in Grand Teton National Park.

U Thant Asking For More Troops

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has asked for more soldiers to bolster the peace force in Cyprus as his commander on the island warned that the halt in hostilities "is only a breather."

Thant's request came amid signs that relations between Greece and Turkey were worsening.

The secretary-general met at his New York headquarters Thursday with delegates of the nine nations that contributed to the 6,200-member Cyprus force.

How many soldiers Thant requested was not known.

New contingents presumably would be deployed between Greek and Turkish Cypriots facing each other in villages on the critical northwest coast. The Greek Cypriot government is seeking a force limited to 7,000 men.

The new crisis on Cyprus was touched off a week ago in the Mansoura-Kokkina area after Greek Cypriots attacked Turkish Cypriot strongholds and Turkey struck from the air in retaliation.

The Cyprus government said it suffered 500 casualties in the fighting, the heaviest since the fighting began eight months ago.

The Security Council intervened and recommended a halt to all military flights. A shaky cease-fire has been in effect since Tuesday.

Li. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian commander of the peace force, said after an inspection of the Kokkina area that the "is only a breather."

Thimayya's visit was in line with U.N. efforts to strengthen its buffer force between the warring factions.

On the diplomatic front, the government of Greece rejected a Turkish appeal for direct talks. Premier George Papandreu said the problem should be taken to the U.N. General Assembly if peace efforts under way at Geneva fail.

Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu had sent a message to Papandreu urging that negotiations begin as soon as possible.

In a message Thursday to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Inonu asked the Soviet leader to use his influence to guide the Cyprus government into a course more "legal, humane and peaceful."

$1½ Million Still Unfound After 2 Years

BOSTON (AP) — Two years ago today a man in a policeman's uniform raised his hand to halt a small mail truck in historic Plymouth. When the truck stopped it was robbed of $1,551,277 — the biggest cash haul in United States history.

From that day to this, a band of postal inspectors, 60 on the average, has worked for a solution. The robbers, believed to number six, have not been apprehended. And the money has not been found.

William F. White, chief postal inspector for New England, has been in charge of the case from the outset. A mild, affable and dedicated man of 55, he still is optimistic the crime will be solved.

Only witnesses to the holdup were the driver of the mail truck, Philip Schena, and the guard who rode at his side, Patrick Barrett.

Their truck was carrying 16 sealed bags of cash from Cape Cod banks, en route to the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston, when it was halted along Route 3 in Plymouth.

Barrett has recounted many times for investigators what happened at dusk on Aug. 14, 1962. His story goes like this:

"We were driving along at a steady pace when a car passed us at about 80 miles an hour. Then a police officer — we thought he was — stepped out on the road and flagged us down."

Barrett didn't know the uniformed man was one of the bandits.

After the mail truck had passed Clark Road, which turns off Route into Plymouth, the pseudo policeman placed a detour sign at the junction. The sign diverted traffic from Route 3 down Clark Road and left the gunmen undisturbed as they slid from shrubbery and pointed shotguns at the men on the truck.

Barrett said: "We noticed a couple of cars beside the road and thought there might have been an accident. As soon as we stopped four guys jumped us. They all wore white gloves."

"They leaped into the truck, shoved us in the back of it and said 'Keep quiet; don't say anything.' Then we were tied up."

The robbers drove the mail truck for about 25 miles to the north. Along the way they tossed out the money bags to confederates. About an hour and a half later, the bandits abandoned the truck. Barrett and Schena loosed their bonds and notified police.

5,000 Added To MSU Rolls

EAST LANSING (AP)—While Michigan State University officials worry about where to put the 31,444 students expected this fall, East Lansing city officials and merchants are worrying about where to park the students' cars.

With nearly 5,000 additional students and stepped-up parking regulations on campus, some officials fear that a substantial number of the city's 1,170 downtown parking lot spaces could be gobbled up.

The university is restricting student parking to commuter lots on the fringes of the campus and is providing bus service to the central campus area.

"If they don't stick to the commuter lots, then we're in trouble," said City Manager John Patriarche.

The wall was built three years ago by the Communists to stop the westward exodus of East Germans.

Since then, 53 East Germans have died trying to scale the wall.

To pay homage to the dead, the West Berlin government asked all West Berliners to observe an hour's silence Thursday. Public transport stopped, and streets generally were deserted.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and other members of his government laid wreaths at points where refugees were gunned down by East German border guards.

Hour Of Silence, Then Berlin Riot

BERLIN (AP) — West Berliners observed an hour of silence Thursday on the third anniversary of the hated Communist wall. Then silence turned to violence as rioters surged to the barricade and attacked a Soviet army car.

"The wall must go," shouted the demonstrators.

Others sent a truck trailer smashing through barriers put up to keep West Berliners away from the wall between East and West Berlin.

West Berlin police, swinging clubs, dispersed the truck throwing demonstrators. One leather jacketed youth was knocked to the ground, where he lay bleeding and unconscious.

The Soviet army car, containing at least one Soviet officer and a driver, was traveling back to East Berlin. It was attacked near the wall's Check Point Charlie, a crossing point for foreigners.

A mob of about 500 West Berliners surrounded the car and battered it with their fists and feet. It was heavily dented and a license plate was ripped off.

The Soviets stayed inside the car, which roared off into East Berlin after West Berlin police cleared a path through the jeering mob.

Demonstrators pushed the truck trailer from a parking lot and sent it speeding down the street toward the police barriers. The police jumped aside and the trailer smashed several barriers before stopping some distance from the wall.

The demonstrators raced for the breach in the barriers, but police closed ranks, swung their clubs and held off the demonstrators.

The wall was built three years ago by the Communists to stop the westward exodus of East Germans.

Since then, 53 East Germans have died trying to scale the wall.

Jerseyites Riot For Third Night

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Gasoline bombs, bottles and bricks crashed in the streets of Paterson's Negro district for the third successive night, but city officials called the vandalism and disorder less serious.

In Elizabeth, police swinging nightsticks swept a street clear of hundreds of Negro and white youths at midnight after a police car was struck with a bottle. There too, on the third night of violence, authorities said tension appeared to be subsiding.

The pattern — three nights of violence in a row — matched that of recent racial rioting in Harlem, Brooklyn and Rochester, N.Y., and Jersey City.

Paterson police reported that between 50 and 60 incidents occurred Thursday night in and near the city's predominantly Negro Fourth Ward. They arrested 23 Negroes, one white man and a dozen juveniles. The unidentified white man allegedly was arrested with a bottle in his hand.

Three policemen and a teenager suffered minor injuries. A police car was "extensively damaged" by rocks and bricks, Mayor Frank J. Graves said.

Graves, who promised to meet street violence with total force, said late Thursday night: "I'm very encouraged at this point. I think they know we mean business — a year in jail for fooling around with a cop."

In Elizabeth, the midnight clash climaxed a night of milling in the streets of the city's multiracial Elizabethport district by Negroes and whites.

Shortly before midnight some 40 Negro youths began a march on one side of First Street, but they broke into a run when a white man in a telephone booth yelled, "Hey, get that boy in the gray jacket."

A bottle struck a police car; others smashed in the street.

The milling crowd of between 200 and 300 persons began running and shouting along several blocks.

Twenty squad cars roared onto First Street from all directions, and helmeted policemen with clubs took command immediately.

ATLANTA RESTAURATEUR Lester Maddox sat in the sling of an auto wrecker this week in a struggle to keep his establishment segregated. He diverted traffic which the police were diverting until a wrecker towed his car away. Last night he closed his $400,000 business, putting 66 people (44 negroes) out of work, when two civil rights workers tried to enter his restaurant. (NEA Photo)

Federal Pay Raised Today By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed the federal pay-raise bill today and said it will enable the government to attract and keep employees of outstanding ability.

He said he already has signed 25 pieces of major legislation, and the pay-raise bill ranks near the top of the list in importance.

Johnson signed the bill in a ceremony in the White House flower garden attended by members of Congress whose committees handled the legislation, government officials, and labor leaders who supported it.

The measure gives a pay raise to members of Congress, judges, government officials and about 1.7 million other federal workers. The boost ranges from $100 a year for the lowest-ranking Civil Service or postal employee up to $10,000 a year for high officials.

It is estimated to add $558 million to the yearly federal civilian payroll which now runs about $15.5 billion.

Johnson lauded the bipartisanship displayed by Congress in passing the bill, as well as in enacting other legislation, saying the legislators put the country and the people first.

Johnson said the continuing goal of the government is to make federal salaries reasonably comparable to those of private industry.

For most of those covered the raises will show up on the next pay check — retroactive to July 1. Members of Congress will have to wait until next Jan. 1 to get their $7,500-a-year increases.

The act provides raises ranging from 2.7 per cent to 30 per cent, with the biggest boosts going to the highest level officials, including federal judges.

The biggest raises — $10,000-a-year — will go to the nine members of the Cabinet, making their annual salaries $35,000.

The next vice president and the speaker of the House will get $8,000 a year, putting their annual salaries at $43,000.

Members of the House and Senate, judges of the courts of appeal, and federal district judges will get $7,500-a-year raises. That will give the appellate judges annual salaries of $33,000 and the district judges and members of Congress $30,000.

The smallest in size of the major raises goes to the Supreme Court justices — $4,500 a year. The House had voted them $7,500 but the Senate trimmed it to $2,500 and a compromise was struck.

The new annual salaries for the high court will be $40,000 for the chief justice and $39,500 for the associate justices.

For the 1.1 million white collar federal workers, the average increase will be about 4.3 per cent. A typical government secretary will get an annual boost of about $310 a year. In the upper middle bracket an employee making $10,000 will go up by $330 to $10,420.

The average raise for the 390,000 postal employees will be 5.6 per cent. For the 375,000 letter carriers among them, that will mean about $325 a year more. That's about $6 a week.

UM Doctors Give Boy Longer Leg

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Next summer when young Mac McKillen raps a grounder he hopes to be able to do his own running and beat the throw to first base.

Patrick (Mac) McKillen, 14, of nearby Dexter, Mich., has just had his polio-shortened left leg stretched two inches to match his right.

Using a brace, with one leg two inches shorter, "I could run. Not very fast, but I ran. Sometimes I had kids run for me in a close game."

The 5-2, 120-pound boy played Little League baseball and Peanut League basketball and sandlot football with the bad leg. "Football was hard," he said, "I usually played center where I didn't have to run too much. I just blocked."

"In baseball," he said, "I played catcher, mostly, but next summer I'm going to try for third base."

He said he'll try out for the varsity teams at Dexter High School, where he'll be in the ninth grade this fall.

The operation that gave the boy the hopeful outlook was performed successfully for the first time in this country on McKillen, said Dr. John Hayes of University Hospital here.

Hayes said it was a 36-day procedure. The boy entered the hospital July 5. Dr. Hayes said bolts were put through the upper and lower portions of the lower leg bone and the bone cut between them. Then the leg was stretched, a tiny bit each day. He said in children, the bone grows to fill the gap, if it is done slowly enough.

The operation, the physician said, has been done successfully before in Europe.

Patrick, who had polio at the age of two, previously wore a leg brace and elevated shoe and used crutches at times. Now, he hopes, he'll be through with all of that.

The boy said there was little pain but sometimes the skin "felt tight" during the stretching operation which ended this week.

Late this fall, he said, "they're going to put on a walking cast. Then early next year

There Is Much That's Free At Big State Fair

With a free gate, scores of free exhibits that are educational and cultural, plus free access to all of the buildings and barns — there is certainly much to see that is free when the big U.P. State Fair opens Tuesday next week.

The region's farms, schools, and homes will send their best products and handiwork for showing at the Fair; an art exhibit that is valued at thousands of dollars will be displayed free; while displays of the latest in farm machines and household equipment will fill the big exhibition building.

Even the grandstand at the Fair is open to everyone for three afternoons of Fair Week: Wednesday afternoon is the introduction of the Fair Queen contestants (there's 20 of them this year) and that night one will be crowned; Thursday afternoon there's Gov. Romney's address and 4-H events; and on Friday afternoon the U.P. Model Plane flying contest will be held.

Many Free Features
Barns and stables will be filled to overflowing with registered dairy and beef cattle, fine riding horses, fat steers, poultry, rabbits, sheep and other livestock. Here too there is much to see that to children will bring long-remembered thrills of being near enough to touch huge but docile steers and watch peacocks unfurl colorful tails.

One of the cultural features of the Fair this year will be the Detroit Institute of Art's

"Artmobile" collection of paintings valued at thousands of dollars. These will be shown for the full five days of Fair Week and the exhibit will be staffed by members of the Friends of Art of Escanaba. Paintings range from the work of Winslow Homer and Eakins to the moderns.

The W. G. Wade Shows will bring to the midway much that is not free at the Fair — but that's a matter between you and your pocketbook. What's for free is the exuberant sounds and sights of the midway with the colorful shows and the gay rides.

If you like to watch fine saddle horses and skilled riders, the 4-H Saddle Show is free; and there's always fascination in observing the showmanship of farmers young and old parading their animals before the judges.

Employees Must Pay
Yes, there's much to see that is free at the Fair. Likewise there are certain privileges that must be paid for by Fairgoers.

To attend performances in the grandstand other than on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoon requires the purchase of a ticket. The grandstand shows are at 2 and 8:15 p.m. daily.

To bring your car through the gate and park it will cost you 50 cents. Truck parking for duration of the Fair is $6.

There's one new charge being made this year that does not affect the general public, however. But it does affect all employees of the Fair.

All employees of the Fair (including the Board of Managers) will be required to pay $1 for a sticker to enter the grounds. To obtain this sticker the employees must present the registration certificate of their car upon which the sticker will be used. The number will be printed on the sticker and may not be transferred to any other vehicle.

Small Business Investment Corp. Forming In U.P.

Incorporation of an Upper Peninsula Small Business Investment Corporation was expected to move closer to reality in a Meeting at Riverside Country Club in Menominee today, sponsored by the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress.

The meeting was asked by Roger Williams, publisher of the Menominee Herald-Leader, in the community effort to aid the R. J. Enstrom Co., to develop sufficient capital investment to proceed with production of its three place F-28 helicopter.

Fred Hahne, president of the First National Bank at Manistique, is chairman of the steering committee for organization of a Small Business Investment Corp., which, if approved by Upper Peninsula bankers, will seek a license from the Small Business Administration as a lending agency.

Dr. Elbert V. Bowden, executive director of UPACAP, reviewed the progress in creation of a Small Business Investment Corp. to augment Upper Peninsula commercial credit for risk capital enterprises in the area. The need for some such agency to stimulate investment in risk enterprises in the Upper Peninsula and the desirability of gathering resources from a wide area to spread the risk have been cited many times in economic development discussions.

Started at Marquette
At Governor Romney's Upper Peninsula economic development conference at Northern Michigan University in June UPACAP asked the Governor's support of a small business investment organization to provide more venture capital for U.P. industry and the Governor expressed his favor.

In early July UPACAP Secretary Robert Ray of Ironwood and UPACAP Treasurer Fred Hahne of Manistique asked Bowden to set up a meeting in Manistique on the subject and it was held July 28 at the First National Bank at Manistique under sponsorship of UPACAP and Operation Action-U. P. Small Business Administration officers came from Detroit.

Robert F. Lehman, chief of the Investment Division of SBA explained that a SBIC incorporated under state law and any bank which holds stock is considered as only one stockholder under Securities Exchange Commission regulations. The SBIC has tax advantages on profits and capital gains and with only $150,000 in original private capital, SBIC can obtain from SBA and lend an additional $300,000, while the entire equity interest remains with the local SBIC stockholders.

Licensed By SBA
Only half the money from SBA has any time requirement for repayment and even here no amortization is required until the 11th year. The SBIC can't put more than 20 per cent of its total capital into one loan.

Robert Phillips, regional director of SBA said "One of the greatest impediments to economic expansion in the U. P. is the shortage of risk capital." Lesman said an SBIC is formed and licensed by SBA with steps including choosing of directors, gathering of the minimum $150,000 local capital, incorporation.

Meetings on an Upper Peninsula SBIC held at Iron River on Tuesday of this week and in Newberry on Wednesday found most persons attending enthusiastic in support of the project. No one opposed the project and several conferees said they would ask their bank board of directors to pledge the legal maximum (2 per cent of capital and surplus) for purchase of stock in the proposed SBIC. All indicated that they would recommend participation in some degree.

Fred Hahne suggested that the SBIC board of directors might consist of 15 members, one from each U. P. county, chosen by the banks of the county, and that loans might be applied for through the county director.

Walter Lewke, Escanaba Chamber of Commerce manager was among today's conferees.

Directors of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce unanimously endorsed the 4 mill tax levy proposed by the Board of Education Thursday at the Chamber building. The proposal will be presented to the voters on Monday, Sept. 1.

Famed Wildlife Manager States Delta Erred

Action of the Delta County Board of Supervisors on Aug. 6 in asking the Michigan Conservation Commission not to order an antlerless deer hunt in Delta County next fall was described as "a decided backward step" today by one of America's most eminent wildlife management specialists.

Dr. Ira Gabrielson of Washington, D. C., president of the Wildlife Management Institute, which is dedicated to wildlife restoration to provide more hunting in America, commented in a letter to the Escanaba Daily Press on the action by the board of supervisors.

The action on a resolution by the board's Conservation Committee was voted without opposition. A telegram reporting the resolution was sent to the Conservation Commission meeting at Higgins Lake to act on hunting regulations for the fall season.

The Wildlife Management Institute provided the professional review of the Michigan Conservation Department in 1963 which augmented the lay inquiry into the Department by a citizens committee of 21 members appointed by Gov. George Romney. The study recommended many Conservation Department reforms which have been adopted since issuance of the report. The department has been restructured for more clearly defined lines of authority and several programs have been revised.

"Backward Step"
The Wildlife Management Institute headed by Dr. Gabrielson has made studies like that of the Michigan Conservation Department in nearly 30 state conservation departments at the request of the states and has re-surveyed 7 of them to see how recommended changes were affecting their conservation programs.

Dr. Gabrielson wrote: "The resolution of the Delta County Board of Supervisors asking the Michigan Conservation Department to abandon plans for an any deer hunt and making such hunts subject to local veto has come to my attention. May I say that any implementation of this resolution would represent a decided backward step in the management of an important resource of the Upper Peninsula.

"The only way to maintain a healthy and vigorous deer herd is to crop the annual surplus by regulating hunting, and this means a portion of the antlerless deer as well as bucks. In my estimation, Michigan's deer herd has reached a point where a substantial harvest of antlerless deer is necessary."

"It is an unfortunate fact that the same well-intended philosophy behind the resolution in question has killed, and wasted, more deer nationally than all of the hunters combined. The majority of the traditional deer hunting states found this fact out in tragic ways a number of years ago."

Learning The Hard Way

"The inevitable results are a stunted deer, high winter mortality, low reproduction and epidemic disease. Some states retained the buck law so long that when severe losses occurred as a result of overpopulation, they were forced to close the season for several years or to curtail hunting privileges to permit the herd to recover."

"Others lost more than half of their deer in one year. Still others have not experienced spectacular die-offs, but the weight and antler development of individual deer have shrunk pathetically. I could cite dozens of hunting areas that a few years ago produced real trophy bucks with large racks and where fork horn bucks dressed out at 120 pounds or less now are considered 'big deer'."

"On the other hand, where the game departments have been able to conduct regular antlerless deer hunts of any deer hunts, the sportsmen have been able to take more deer and in most instances as many bucks as they did before their buck laws were rescinded. Invariably the quality of the individual animals, bucks and does, is much higher than before."

"Antlerless or any-deer hunts do not materially affect the total number of deer available in the fall, only the number that enter the dangerous period of late winter. This is because healthy deer produce more fawns. This fact has been borne out in studies in Michigan as well as in Pennsylvania, New York and many other states.

"Local people are often too close to the trees to see the forest. Michigan has some of the best deer biologists in the nation and some of the most competent game administrators. It is inconceivable to me that they would have anything but the highest motives in recommending any-deer seasons, not only for the good of the deer but for that of the sportsmen and the public at large. It is unfortunate that the local people do not share the confidence in the Conservation Commission that is felt by the leading conservationists of North America."

Meadmen Take Excursion

JOHN GRETNUM, left is served refreshments on the Escanaba Division, Mead Corp. supervisors employees excursion Monday to Northland on an Escanaba & Lake Superior Railroad train, by Jerry Parr. The sign is a play on a famous commercial slogan and was used because the E&LS borrowed two Milwaukee Road coaches to accommodate the excursionists.

THIS IS ONLY a part of the group of Escanaba Division, Mead Corp. supervisory personnel which rode to Northland Monday evening on the E&LS for a festive dinner served by the Guild of St. Joseph's Church there.

E&LS Excursions Please Many

The Escanaba & Lake Superior Railroad, which General Manager Guy Knutson sometimes calls the Eggs & Liver Sausage, retired from the passenger business several years ago.

"We lost our passenger," said Manager Knutson. "He was a Civil War veteran at Woodlawn who used to come down to Escanaba for the Memorial Day exercises."

Actually the road once did considerable passenger business, but the highway traffic took it away in a familiar American manner. This week, though, the E&LS, which runs from Wells to Channing, was back in the passenger business. It borrowed two passenger coaches from the Milwaukee Road and ran three excursions on its local train to Channing on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The train only operates 5 days a week, but the Friday run was dispensed with in order to accommodate the week-end special traffic.

Harnischfeger Corp. supervisors and office employees rode to Northland Saturday evening for a dinner served by the Guild of St. Joseph's Church.

On Sunday 140 E&LS employees and their families and retirees rode to Channing and were taken in cars to the Sagola Township Sportsmen's Clubhouse on Sawyer Lake for an outing.

On Monday evening the Escanaba Division, Mead Corp. supervisory employees rode to Northland for a dinner served by the women of St. Joseph's Church.

Knutson said that the excursions don't mean that the E&LS is going back into the passenger business, only that its helping some of its friends enjoy a rail holiday.

Celotex's Pay Shows Benefits

L'ANSE—A flood of $2 bills was released in L'Anse Aug. 14 when Celotex Corp. paid its plant and forestry employees one week's wages in cash, instead of by the customary payroll check.

Thousands of the rarely-seen certificates, which carries the likeness of President Thomas Jefferson, promptly began filtering through the local economy, causing people to look twice at a greenback they had not seen for years.

W. Clark Heitzler, Celotex works manager, and Lynn Sandberg, forestry division manager, said the company paid its U.P. employees in $2 bills to demonstrate the widespread economic impact of the Celotex payroll on Baraga County and surrounding areas.

The combined annual payroll of the Celotex plant and forestry operations totals approximately $1,750,000. Heitzler and Sandberg reported expenditures made in the area account for nearly $3,500,000 per year, bringing the total annual Celotex expenditure in the U.P. to approximately $5,250,000.

Products manufactured at the Celotex L'Anse plant are sold throughout most of the Midwest. Most of the money spent by Celotex in the Upper Peninsula, through payroll and purchases of supplies and services, comes from outside the U.P. By bringing money into the U.P., Celotex is substantially contributing to the economic strength and growth of the region, Heitzler and Sandberg said.

Marine Firm Offers Reward

Gallagher Marine Construction Co. of Escanaba has posted a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who damaged the firm's equipment by placing sugar in the gasoline tanks.

The malicious act was discovered in time to prevent damage which could have cost the company thousands of dollars for repairs.

An agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation arrived in Escanaba on Thursday to gather facts and information regarding the attempt to damage the company's equipment. The attempt was made Saturday night while the firm's barge-mounted cranes were tied up at the C&NW ore dock on navigable waters of the U.S., said Police Chief Harold Finman.

Empty sugar bags along with discarded gloves were found near the scene and foot prints of the suspects were discovered coming from the scene. The impressions of the prints were found in a puddle of tar near the old tie plant.

Stewardship Education, Eugene Hebert, publicity and Mrs. Anna Anderson is Clerical chairman.

In the planning are an expanded educational facility for the First Methodist Church and other improvements to the church structure.

What About Sept. 1?

Active Citizens for Education (ACE) are conducting a campaign for passage of 4 mills for school operation proposed in the Escanaba Area School District in a Sept. 1 ballot.

ACE public meetings at the schools have brought a lot of questions about the tax issue. This is proper and desirable, but after all the meetings are held and all the questions are answered the big question will remain for the voters to answer.

One of the questions asked at an ACE meeting was: Why wasn't the old Escanaba High School safe for high school students, when it's safe for college students? (The old high school building has been used by Bay de Noc Community College since the new high school building was constructed.) The answer is that safety was only one factor in many considerations that prompted the construction of the new high school. An important one was space. The old building isn't ideal for the college by a long shot, but it is making do with the housing of 200 students where there used to be 800. The new high school houses 1,200.

The community went through this issue exhaustively and voted for the change. It should by now be a pretty dead cat to drag into a debate on an election to approve a proposed tax of 4 mills for school operation in the Escanaba Area School District. This is not what is being voted upon.

The question for the district essentially is: Do the schools need this extra dough and can we afford it?

The first part of the question rides on public confidence in the Board of Education. The public has elected the board. It is the public's representative in education. The public can never possibly be well informed on all the intricacies of public education in a big school district. It should elect good people to create policy and then it should support them.

As to the second part of the question, it is a matter for personal determination. It will always be true that some persons are in better circumstances than others. It will be relatively easy for some to pay school taxes and relatively difficult for others, although there's at least a rough equity in the matter because those with less means to pay usually have to pay less.

Public schooling in Escanaba and in all America is in a new dimension that is unprecedented and demanding of increasing amounts of money, and which cannot sensibly be compared with the costs of schooling when today's parents were schooled.

The Board of Education is caught in a bind from which it cannot extricate itself, and so is the public. The Board of Education knows it better than the public does. The Board examines the school situation in detail and recommends public approval of more spending in a public election.

The public then has the choice of voting Yes or No on the issue. It thinks (in big part at least) that it determines the issue by its vote. But actually it doesn't; what it really determines is the quality of schooling.

The Board of Education has ordered a salary raise for teachers. It regards this as a necessity for operation of an effective school system here. The money to cover this raise is not available. It will come from the 4 mill tax for school operation to be voted Sept. 1. If the tax is not voted the teachers will get the increase but the school year will end with an even bigger deficit than the district has at present. (The tax is partly to pay off this deficit.)

So the voters who vote No on the millage haven't solved the schools' financing problems; they have only complicated them by deferring payment.

Some will reason that their only curb on school spending is to vote No. This reaction is encouraged by the fact that on so very few issues today does the voter have a veto power on government spending. Two things happen when the voter exercises this veto in the local school district:

1. The quality of schooling is made poorer. (And quality of education is extremely important in the learning process.)

2. Local voters lose more control over local government. (The money will be supplied eventually, but through state or federal governments because the local voters have created a vacuum by refusing to spend local taxes on local needs. It costs much more to have the state or especially the federal government supply them, but they'll do it when the local community shrinks.)

The Escanaba Area has no public problem greater than that of quality schooling for its children.

THREE TO GO

Learns Respect For 'Dead' Bear

WARROAD, Minn. (AP) — Andy Streiff tells how to kill a bear: "Shoot him three times after he is dead. Then wait five minutes before you go up to him."

Streiff is recovering today from a recent encounter with a 250-pound bear. At 216 pounds, Streiff wasn't too badly out-matched except for the teeth and claws.

He came across the bear while on his truck route, picking up farmers' milk. He shot the animal and it went down and appeared lifeless.

But when Streiff approached, bruin became a black whirlwind. Streiff took him on in a wrestling match but was ripped across the stomach, had a mangled and broken left hand and a chewed leg before he managed to grab his rifle and kill the bear.

Swept In Sewer, Girl Still Alive

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. (AP) — Mrs. Leo Racette watched in horror as her 9-year-old daughter, Rita, stepped from their stalled automobile and fell into swirling water that flooded the street.

Before anyone could help, Rita had been swept down a storm drain into a sewer. The onrushing rain waters carried her 75 feet underground and into the Willimantic River.

Three men saw the girl and two jumped in while the third held out a stick from the bank. Together they managed to get the child to land.

"God was good to us," said Rita's father Wednesday night after she was back safe and sound at their home in Springfield, Mass.

Ann Landers

Husband Prefers Female Chatter

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I do a good bit of entertaining at home and we are frequently invited to parties in the homes of our many friends. After dinner the men go off by themselves to smoke cigars and talk, and the women remain in the living room.

My husband always sticks with the girls and joins the conversation as if he were one of them. This embarrasses me so I can hardly hold my head up. If the conversation is about clothes he expresses his preferences and his pet hates. When the girls talk about cooking he chimes in with a few recipes of his own.

The last time he did this I was tempted to join the men, but I just couldn't do it. I decided not to make a fool of myself in an effort to teach my husband a lesson he might not get. There's nothing wrong with him—so don't get the idea that he is not normal. What should I do?—MARRIED TO ONE OF THE GIRLS

Married To: Don't try to shame your husband into joining the boys. It won't work. Instead tell him the presence of a lone male makes the girls uncomfortable, that even though he'd rather be with the ladies, as a matter of courtesy, he should go with the men.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife admits she hates housework. The appearance of our home is her best testimonial. She insists most modern women loathe housework because it is uncreative and that any dumb ox can clean a house.

She further insists it is easy for YOU to tell other women they owe it to their families to be good housekeepers because all YOUR housework is done by hired help.

How about it? Are you honest and courageous enough to answer in print—BILL W. OF SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Dear Bill: Your wife is right about me. I don't do housework. I did do plenty of it, however—including washing, ironing, floor, scrubbing and the cooking—for the first ten years of my marriage.

Since we're letting our hair down, Buddy Boy, I'll tell you that my house was always in pretty good shape, the laundry looked presentable, and nobody ever died from my cooking.

I didn't hate housework, nor did I feel it was beneath my dignity. Although it didn't thrill me, I did it with pride—as part of contribution to marriage.

At present I put in approximately 10 hours every day producing 365 Ann Landers columns a year. If your wife is putting out half as much energy on a career, she should be excused from housework. If not, tell her to quit beefing and clean up her house.

Dear Ann Landers: You were all wrong when you advised the mother of that teen-age girl not to allow her to take a cross country trailer trip with her boy friend and his parents. We have been through it with our own teen-ager, and the results were wonderful. The kids ended up hating each other. There's nothing like day and night exposure to produce personality clashes, quarreling, and finally utter boredom. Our friends thought it was disgraceful when we permitted our 16-year-old daughter to invite her boy friend on a trailer trip. My husband and I talked it over and decided human nature being what it is, that the kids would get sick and tired of each other and it was worth the chance. So there you are.—WIZEAPPLE

Dear Apple: Sorry, but I DON'T agree it is worth the chance. Human nature being what it is, your story might have had a different ending. My advice still stands.

Do you lack self-confidence have trouble making friends? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

100 PER CENT IN FAVOR

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—

Asbury Place became a part of suburban Mountain Brook by a unanimous vote in an annexation election. The plebiscite attracted only two voters, and both favored the attachment. Asbury Place contains a half dozen homes, but only two of the residents had lived there long enough to qualify for the election.

Washington Comment

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — We can win the military war in South Viet Nam and lose the country.

That is the conviction I have brought back with me after an intensive tour of the war-torn land which included 120 interviews with tough fighting Viet Cong, Vietnamese, American military and political officers, and village and hamlet chiefs.

I spent two weeks getting these firsthand views in critical areas of the country:

The crucial problem is this: I've gone into hamlet after hamlet and asked where the young men are. I've been told they're with the Viet Cong.

The Viet Cong strategy is to take over the countryside and isolate the cities. In major areas south of Saigon they have already done this.

The South Viet Nam government controls the provincial and district capitals and narrow strips along major highways. The government can clear main roads every morning. The Communists come back at night.

In the hamlets, where most of the people of South Viet Nam live, the Communists have almost a monopoly on propaganda and politics. In that vacuum, the Red propaganda line wins.

Government political parties have little membership outside of Saigon and a few major cities. In many parts of the south, local officials have no real contact with the people except to collect taxes or round up conscripts for the army.

The ruling South Viet Nam government group in Saigon is military. All province governors are military men except one. The provinces are divided into districts, which are headed by military officers. Most of South Viet Nam's people are farmers. They are suspicious of military men.

Village and hamlet government is weak. By a highly selective process of killing or intimidating the small number of effective village and hamlet chiefs, the Viet Cong have made local government even weaker.

In districts I visited where local officials are weak, corrupt or indifferent, farmers don't co-operate with the government and the local militia men won't fight. These districts are wide-spread.

In other districts I've seen, where the Saigon government has sent in strong, graft-busting officials, the citizens sabotage the Communists and the local militia men fight. But, there are few of these districts.

The importance of men and arms brought down from North Viet Nam for use in the war in the south has been seriously underestimated by U.S. military authorities.

Because of the importance of this traffic, the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam naval facilities (which came while I was traveling on the remote Viet Nam-Cambodia border) had an excellent effect on the Vietnamese. It showed that the U.S. meant business. Many Vietnamese had begun to doubt our determination. The U.S. action was dramatic and positive. But the war still has to be won in the south. We're not winning.

The situation is far from hopeless. High and low Vietnamese officials, army officers and private citizens—speaking with amazing candor—have outlined at length for me the mistakes they and their colleagues are making, why these mistakes are being made and what they propose to do about them.

DOE HUNTING

The annual "doe battle" is on again. I have written to Rep. Clifford Perras (R-Nadewau) that in my opinion he is on the wrong side of this thing (in calling for public opposition to an antlerless deer hunt in the Upper Peninsula.)

Perhaps he really believes that the doe season as proposed by the Conservation Department is wrong, although it is inconceivable to me that this is his best thinking.

Whether this is the politically expedient thing to do or not remains to be seen. Some of the most vocal people probably are against the doe season, but our representative in the Legislature should not be so sure that they are the majority. As one who is in favor of a limited doe hunt, I listen to a lot of people who share this point of view.

The State of Colorado reports deer kill success ratio way above Michigan's. A year ago my wife and I were traveling through Colorado, Utah, Nevada and Wyoming just before the deer season. We talked with many hunters and found the quite a few used to come to Michigan to hunt, but gave that up in favor of Western States because the success ratio was so much better. And do you know the bag limits? In parts of Colorado they are allowed up to 3 deer on a license and at least one must be an antlerless deer!

Field & Stream or Sports Afield carry a listing by states of bag limits and regulations. Nevada, one of our least populated states, like the Upper Peninsula, has consistently been way up around 90 percent and they shoot any sex deer and allow two or three to a license. Look at the non-resident licenses sold. I've been all over all those states by air and by car and I'm sure our deer are more secure from too much gun pressure than are theirs.

If you talk with many biologists outside Michigan you find that they all have a much higher regard for the opinions of Michigan's deer expert, Ito Bartlett, than we who pay his salary seem to have.

We should be thinking of the potential attraction Michigan can be to 20 million shooters. We're closer to them than Nevada or Colorado. We should be thinking of the strain the $1.5 billion they spend annually could put on Upper Peninsula cash registers. What we need is a little more promotion and we surely need to get a way from our pitifully outdated "bucks only" law.

NORTH MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The city of North Miami recently annexed a parcel of land and was embarrassed to discover an incinerator, operated by a supermarket.

Councilman Leonard Kimball said, "I don't know how this got in. We don't allow an individual to burn his garbage here. Why would we let a business do it?"

Memory Lane

By J. R. LOWELL
Ten Years Ago

Edward J. Bergman, 90, prominent business and civic leader of Bark River and senior member of a widely known Upper Peninsula family, died today following a stroke.

Lloyd and Carl Nyberg of Gladstone are featured in today's Daily Press as operating a business that is fast disappearing from the American scene. They operate a blacksmith shop. Though horse shoeing is pretty much a thing of the past, they supplement this work with ornamental iron and have built up a thriving business.

Lilah Patz, 12, and Lynn Johnson, 11, both of Manistique, are capable fishermen. While fishing in Indian Lake Lilah hooked a 26-pound northern pike and with Lynn's assistance pulled him out of the water.

The White Birch softball team of Flat Rock, by a 10-1 victory over the North Western 400 team, capped the regional class B championship last evening.

William Morton, of Lexington, Mo., is visiting in Escanaba after an absence of 32 years. Mr. Morton was, before leaving here in 1912, a clerk at the Oliver House. He is amazed over the great changes he finds here.

The L. C. Randall home in Gladstone was badly damaged by fire yesterday afternoon. Explosion of a gasoline container is blamed for the blaze.

Thirty Years Ago

Auditor General John K. Stack of Escanaba has launched his campaign for nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket.

John E. Wright, 57, who for years ran a hotel at Cooks and prior to that a livery barn, died today at his home south of that village.

John A. Bloomquist, old time Escanaba resident, who has been visiting a son in Pennsylvania, left there a few days ago for Detroit. He made the trip by plane and though far in his eighties, liked the ride immensely and would like to try it again.

The Doctor Says:

Artery Wall Bulge Serious

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt.

Q — What causes aneurysm of the circle of Willis? Is it serious? Is there any age limit?

A — The aneurysm is a bulging of the wall of an artery and is usually due to a developmental weakness but it may also be caused by some types of infection. Because the circle of Willis is a part of the arterial system at the base of the brain, an aneurysm in this location is serious. When the outpouching becomes very large it is apt to rupture, especially in persons who have a high blood pressure.

This disease is rare in children and commonest between the ages of 35 and 65. If the victim survives a first hemorrhage from this type of aneurysm, he is very likely to get recurrences. A surgeon can prevent recurrences in some cases by tying off the carotid artery in the neck or going into the brain itself and removing the aneurysm.

Q — I had my oviducts tied off nine years ago. Is it possible for the tubes to function again so that I will become pregnant?

A — It is possible for the tubes spontaneously to become open again after several years of being tied. How this happens is not known but it doesn't occur more than once in about 10,000 cases. Furthermore, attempts to reestablish the tubes by a second operation

Bosch

BREWING COMPANY
Houghton, Michigan

1874-1964

NINETY YEARS - of - PROGRESS

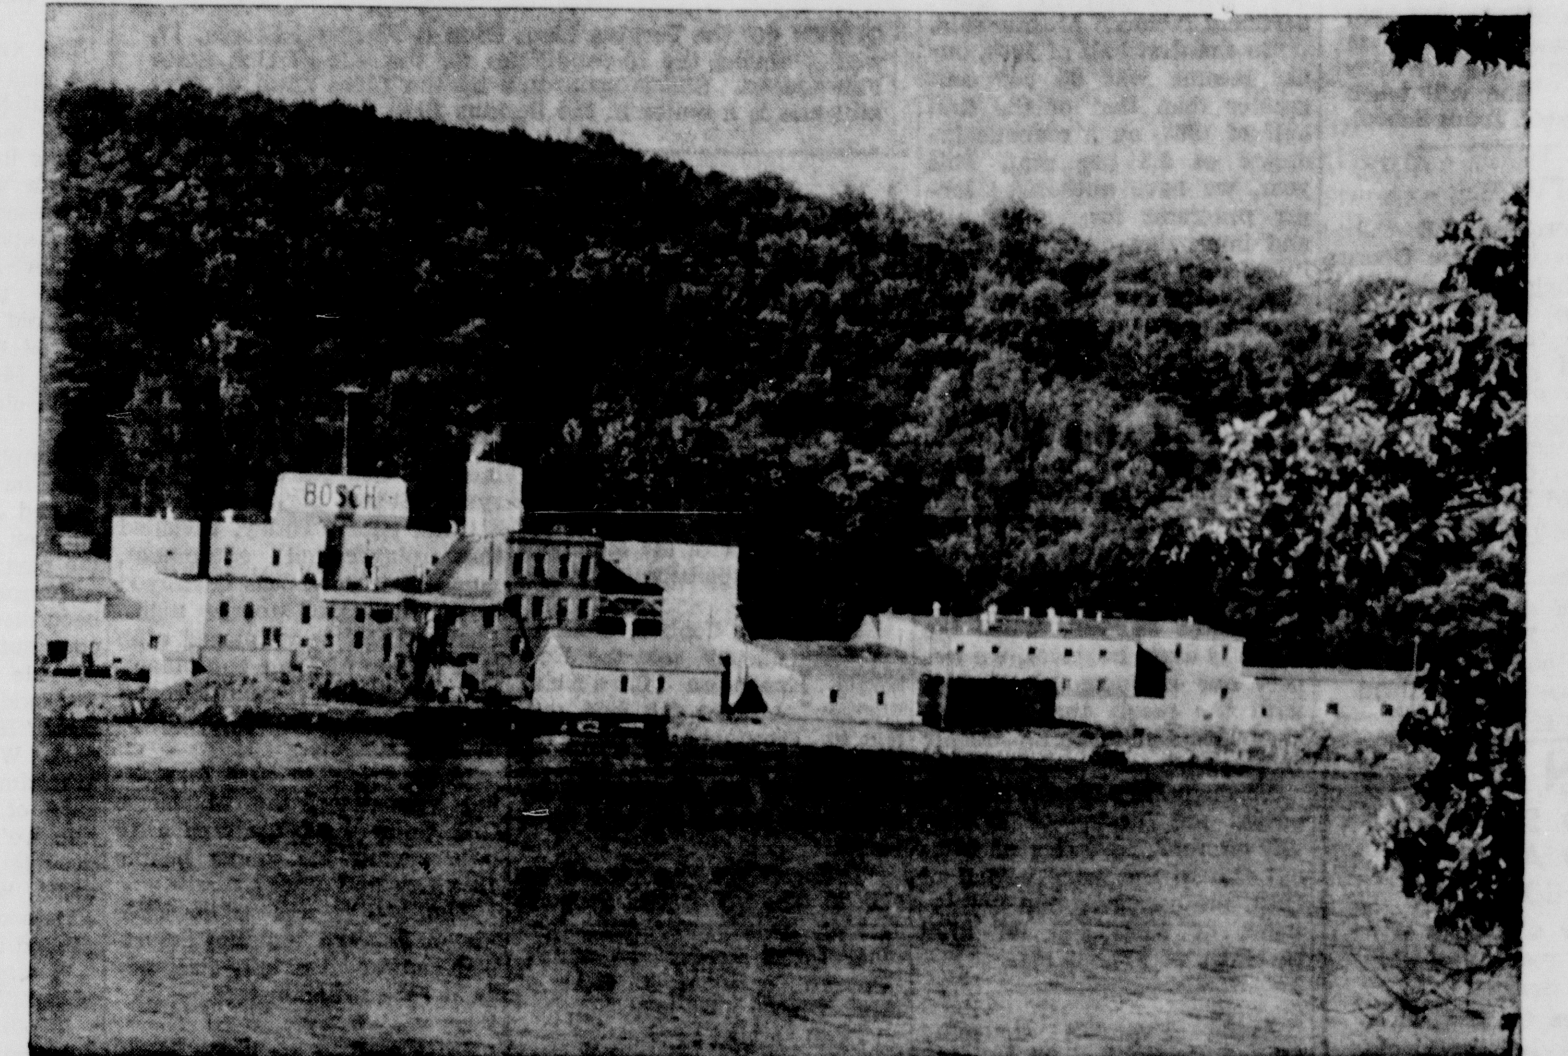

Original Bosch Brewing Company located in Lake Linden, Michigan.

Joseph M. Bosch—Founder and first President of the Bosch Brewing Company.

Philip E. Ruppe—Grandson of Joseph Bosch, and President since October, 1959.

Present Bosch Brewing Company located on the Portage Canal, two miles west of Houghton, Michigan.

Original wooden storage tanks used to age Bosch Beer back in '74.

In the Beginning . . .

The Bosch family came to America from Baden, Germany, where Joseph Bosch was born in 1850. They first settled in Port Washington, Wisconsin. In 1867, they headed north to settle in the newly developed mining regions of Upper Michigan.

They lived a few years in a place called Carleton near St. Ignace, Michigan. Later, the family moved a little further north, finally settling in the village of Lake Linden. Located on the beautiful Keweenaw Peninsula, a finger of land protruding into Lake Superior, Lake Linden was a bustling town in the heart of the frenzied copper mining boom.

Young Joseph Bosch always yearned to enter the brewing industry. He had learned much from his father, a brewer in his native country, Germany, but a desire for more knowledge and experience took him to Milwaukee. Fort Wayne, Cleveland, and other large cities. After a few years, fortified with considerable brewing acumen, he returned to Lake Linden.

In 1874, Bosch erected a small wooden building and equipped it with as much machinery as could be had at the time. It was a modest beginning. The mash tub, for instance, was built from wood and had a capacity of approximately thirty barrels. Malt was crushed, placed in the tub, filled with hot water, and then stirred by hand with large wooden paddles. The completed liquid was withdrawn, pumped into a twenty barrel iron kettle, and allowed to boil. It was at this time that the hops were added. The resulting liquid, called wort, was then cooled in large shallow iron pans and later conveyed to open tubs where the fermentation took place. After fermenting, it was aged in large vats and finally filled in the wooden barrels that were sold to the public.

The nearest community, Dollar Bay, had only a few houses at that time. Calumet, called Red Jacket, one of the largest cities in the State of Michigan, was four miles distant, but could be reached only by a very rough and steep highway known as the St. Louis Hill road. It took a courageous teamster and an extra strong team of horses to haul beer up this hill.

In those days, little if any, beer was sold in bottles. However, young Joseph Bosch saw the possibility of this package, and the Company began bottling on a small scale. The bottles, quart size only, were received in large crates by boat from Buffalo. Corks, known as the Hutchinson Stoppers, were attached to the neck of the bottles with strong wire, sealed by hand, and used over and over again.

Bottling was simple and rather cumbersome. Half barrels of beer were laid flat with the bung hole on top. One end of a half inch rubber hose was inserted in the bung hole. The other end, after being suctioned to start the flow of beer, was used to fill the bottles. None of the bottles were labeled. Fifty cases of twelve quart bottles was considered a day's work for a man and a boy helper.

As the population of the area grew, so did the business. Saloons became quite numerous. Private boarding houses emerged and began to purchase their beer in small eighth barrels or bottles. The first houses were Austrian and the first teamster was one of that nationality, Matt Strudel. Later, when the Italian boarding houses became more numerous, a delivery teamster of that nationality was required.

The boarding houses, owned by the mining companies, were run by married couples. All beer was charged to the man of the house whose wife dealt it out to the boarders and collected for it. In that way the Brewery kept only one account. Provisions, too, were charged to the man of the house. At the end of the month, all bills were totaled and shared equally by the boarders. It made living very simple and uncomplicated.

The Company continued to grow with the prosperity of the mines. In 1887, however, a great fire destroyed the Brewery and 75% of the village of Lake Linden. Bosch quickly rebuilt the plant. It was a renewal of the faith he held for the future of the Upper Peninsula.

In 1899, the old Union Brewery just west of Houghton was acquired. It was then operated by the Scheuerman interests. The facilities were not impressive, but Bosch had long admired its location. Perfectly situated on the shores of the Keweenaw Waterway, it had in its forested hills natural bubbling springs that produced some of the most advantageous brewing water available anywhere.

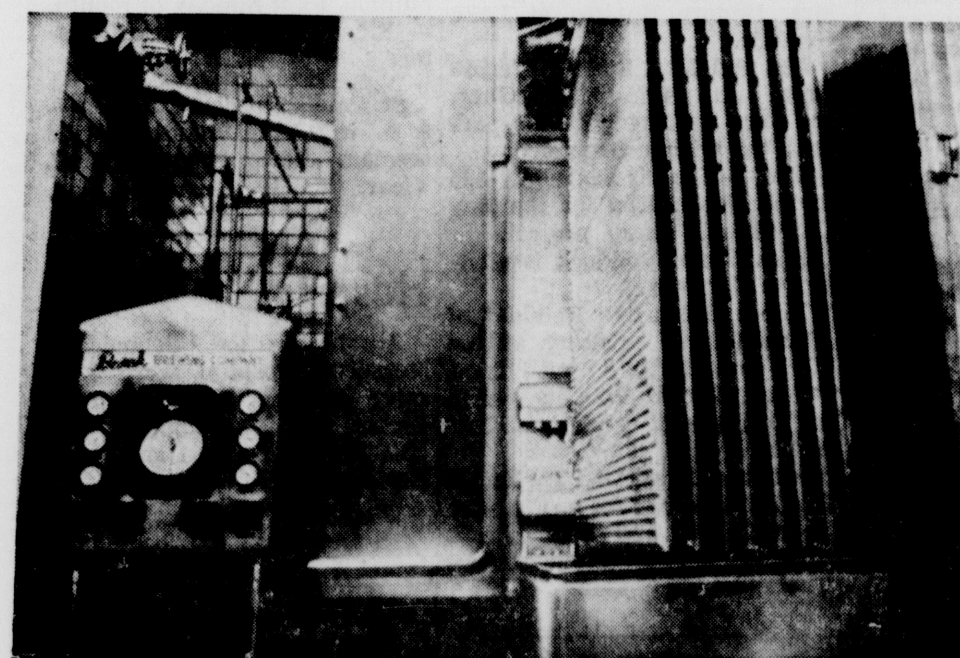

The Company operated both plants until prohibition closed all brewing operations throughout the country. Immediately after repeal, abandoning the Lake Linden plant, Bosch pursued his vision to create a modern brewery in that perfect location near Houghton. He completely rebuilt the old Union Brewery, installing the most efficient equipment available. This procedure has been maintained ever since so that today, Bosch has one of the most modern regional breweries in the nation.

The present management of the Brewery is under the leadership of Joseph Bosch's daughter, Katherine Bosch. Philip Ruppe is President, and James Ruppe, Executive Vice President. Both are grandsons of the founder. Charles Finger, a fifth generation Master Brewer, is Vice President. A recent addition, John Borgen, serves as Sales Manager. These executives lead active and influential lives in the community as supporters of various clubs and charitable organizations.

Stressing the relationship of its product and the community, the Brewery features such advertising themes as "Bright Bold Flavor," "Smooth, Mellow, Golden," but stressed with such home spun philosophy as "Refreshing as the Sportsman's Paradise". Advertising media include the use of daily newspapers, outdoor posters, radio and television, which make known the availability of Bosch Beer in cans, bottles, and on draught.

Joseph Bosch's inspirational faith in the marketing area has continued through a constant program of modernization. Bosch is very proud of its brewing and packaging facilities, and has the welcome mat out the year 'round for guided tours of this modern plant.

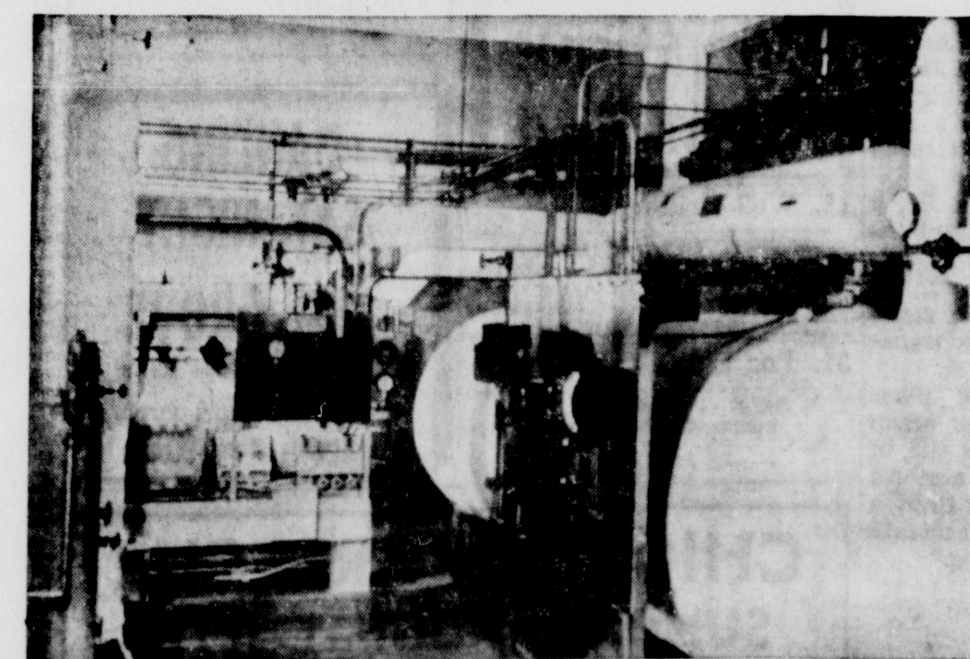

Modern Wort Cooler of solid stainless steel . . . cools the Boiling Wort. (Beer before it is fermented). Here the yeast is added from Bosch's selected strain, and the healthy, vigorous fermentation begins. Cooling capacity 6,000 gallons per hour.

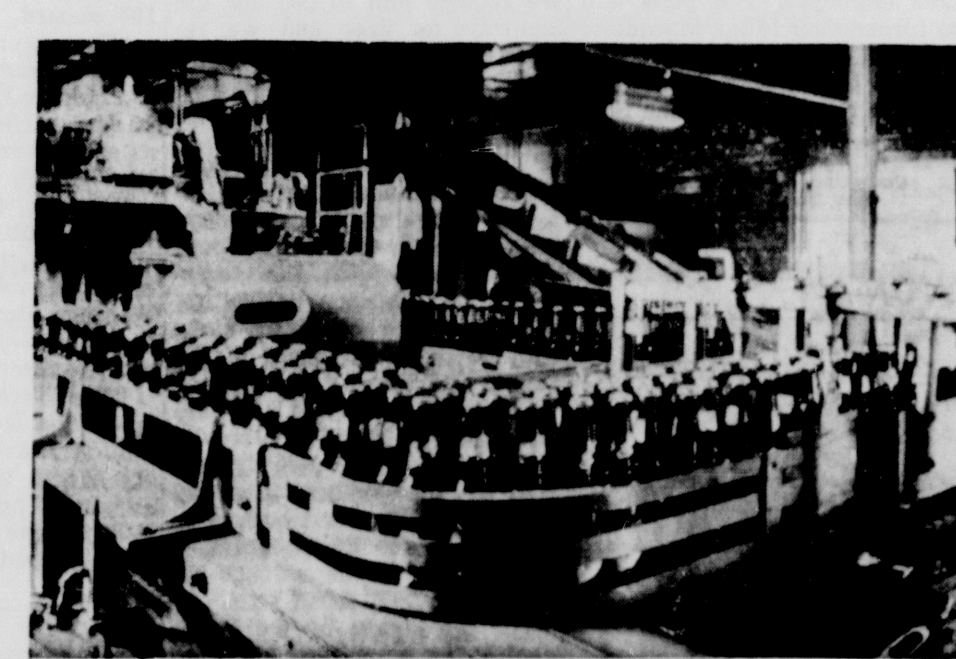

One of Bosch's modern air-conditioned Fermenting Cellars with glass-lined steel storage tanks. Here the wort turns to beer in a slow, uniform, and controlled process. (From left to right: John Borgen, Sales Manager; Philip Ruppe, President; Charles Finger, Brew Master).

In these modern glass-lined steel Storage Tanks, the Bosch Beer lies in reserve until time for transfer to the bottling tanks or finished keg beer storage tanks.

This sub-zero temperature CO2 Storage System maintains a large supply of the pure, natural beer gas, that adds so much to the Bright Bold Flavor of smooth sparkling Bosch Beer.

These Multiple Labelers label bottles at speeds in excess of 250 bottles per minute. From here production moves on to the packaging and warehouse departments prior to shipment.

Here is the ready reserve of completely packaged Bosch Beer in any form for any occasion. Ready to ship by modern handling and shipping facilities, to assure you brewery fresh Bosch for your beer drinking pleasure. . . .

New Soo Pays 3rd Dividend

A dividend of $1.50 per share on the capital stock of Soo Line Railroad has been declared. The dividend, to be paid Sept. 15 will total $1,898,864. It is the third dividend for the New Soo since the company was formed by merger in January 1961.

The dividend does not mean that directors have placed the stock on a regular dividend basis nor does it mean that a fixed dividend rate has been established, said Leonard H. Murray, president.

"The board ordered the dividend payment at this time in light of the earnings of the Soo since the merger, its current cash position, the progress it has made in operating efficiency, physical plant improvement and the marketing of its services, its foreseeable financial requirements and other pertinent factors," Murray said.

"In the first half of 1964, our net income was 80 per cent greater than that of the first half of 1963, on a revenue increase of 9.3 per cent. This year, we have authorized larger programs for maintaining and improving our fixed facilities than we have in previous years and the board authorized the acquisition of some $7 million in new freight cars and locomotives for 1965.

"The strike of grain handlers at Duluth-Superior is having an adverse effect on the Soo's mid-summer earnings. We anticipate a less-than-satisfactory outcome for July and will see the effects of the reduced movement of grain in our August results as well. When the strike is over, however, we expect our business to improve with the result that our full year 1964 should be reasonably successful."

Through June 30, the Soo reported net income of $3,426,073 on total revenues of $40,857,426. In the same period of 1963, the company had net income of $1,225,178 on total revenues of $37,388,161.

Anton Dvorak's charming "Humoresque, No. 7" is considered his most famous composition.

Job Openings Are Expected

CADILLAC (AP)—Nearly $1 billion in industrial plant expansions announced so far this year will produce 100,000 new jobs in Michigan, says the executive director of the Michigan Economic Expansion Department.

Bernard M. Conboy, head of the state agency, told the Economic Expansion Council Wednesday night the $988 million in manufacturing plant expansions announced through June 30 will directly account for 40,000 new jobs in the next three years.

"These 40,000 jobs should result in another 60,000 jobs in service, retail, wholesale and other allied areas," he added, "thereby creating a total of some 100,000 new jobs."

"These, added to other growth factors, should assure normal growth for the state in the three-year period and keep our economy moving ahead at a good pace."

The $988 million represents spending for expansion in manufacturing and is the major share of a total potential outlay of $1.4 billion, according to the department.

The rest of it includes $330 million for utilities and $110 million for non-manufacturing.

The total investment for expansion in the first six months of 1964 exceeds the figure for all of 1963.

Conboy said four plants with total employment of 254 people were lost in the first six months of 1964 while seven new plants with about 1,000 employees moved in.

ISHPEMING — Gene Rock, 13, son of Vertin Rock, of Ishpeming, and Mrs. Peggy Rock, of Iron Mountain, was reported improved and in satisfactory condition at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., where he was taken by plane following a head injury from a golf ball last Friday afternoon at the Portage Lake golf course, Houghton.

Briefly Told

Cars driven by Robert Palk, 16, of Perkins and Harold Bittorf, 31, of Halstead, Kan., collided on US 2 in Wells Township just north of the Escanaba city limits at 6:55 p.m. Thursday. Both cars were traveling north on US 2 and Palk attempted to pass Bittorf just as Bittorf had decided to pass a truck. Palk hit Bittorf in the left rear. Damages were minor and no tickets were issued by the State Police who investigated.

State Police issued traffic tickets to the following motorists: Carl Benson, 228 N. 20th St., Escanaba, no chauffeur's license; Frederick Couillard, 17 River Road, Wells, no operator's license; Hazel M. Bonifas, 1313 Minnesota, Gladstone, speeding and Dennis Wellman, 222 N. 10th St., Escanaba, defective brakes.

MARINETTE — Vandalism continued to be a number one problem for Marinette as a new incident took place at the Merymann School playground.

Chief Elbert Haley, revealed that playground equipment, much of it new, was destroyed or damaged late Monday night. Picnic tables were placed atop iron frames of some equipment, saws were dismantled and parts scattered in other equipment at the site.

In an effort to curb increasing vandalism, the Marinette City Council has ordered a 10 p.m. curfew for young people 18 years and under.

The action was taken after Mayor Edward Woleske described vandalism to city property as it "the critical state."

ISHPEMING — Gene Rock, 13, son of Vertin Rock, of Ishpeming, and Mrs. Peggy Rock, of Iron Mountain, was reported improved and in satisfactory condition at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., where he was taken by plane following a head injury from a golf ball last Friday afternoon at the Portage Lake golf course, Houghton.

MENOMINEE — Menominee could have a junior college educational system in two years or more, according to Alex M. Nelson, superintendent of Menominee public schools.

Nelson outlined details of the proposal to the board of education.

He said he has discussed the proposal with educational leaders at the University of Michigan and that the possibility is good that the community could have a junior college.

"Our philosophy is stimulated with the idea there will be a new high school building constructed within a year or two," said Nelson. He predicted the enrollment could reach 300-400 students the first year of operation.

MARQUETTE — A year ago last spring, an abandoned puppy wandered into the Soo Line shops in Marquette. Railworkers adopted her and she stayed in an office at the shops area. Four weeks ago, Soo Line Soo, as she came to be known, gave birth to a litter of pups that have been cared for by Soo Line employees. The pups will be turned over to the Marquette County Humane Society, but the Soo Line workers will continue to care for Soo Line Soo.

VP Candidates Are Longtime Political Pals

By JOT HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—By an unusual twist, two long-time political comrades-in-arms and personal friends have been thrown into the roles of front-runners for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Minnesota's Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, 53, and Eugene J. McCarthy, 48, may find the roles a bit uncomfortable but they are carrying them through with good humor and grace as the time for a choice nears.

President Johnson, who will select the man for the No. 2 spot on the ticket, has not pointed a finger at either Minnesotan.

His choice may turn out to be someone else.

But Johnson's high regard for Humphrey and McCarthy has been voiced so often that speculation inevitably centered on them once the President eliminated Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and several other possibilities.

The two senators remain on the best of terms and continue to match their votes on almost every issue as the 1964 session grinds to an end.

Both will be delegates from Minnesota to the Atlantic City convention with opens Aug. 24.

They even are able to kid about their predicament, as they did at a fund-raising dinner for McCarthy earlier in the year. McCarthy is a candidate for re-election to the Senate this fall.

Humphrey served as chairman for the dinner, which attracted Johnson and an unusual number of other top figures in the party.

Humphrey recalled there had been discussion in Congress of a constitutional amendment to provide for two vice presidents, and said that McCarthy had told him: "Hubert, don't be so downcast. When that constitutional amendment comes up taking care of Adlai (Stevenson) and me, we're going to amend it to provide for three vice presidents. We think there should be somebody who just travels around and has a good time."

"I want you to know, Gene, I accept," Humphrey replied.

At that dinner, incidentally, Johnson termed McCarthy "one of the greatest men in public life." But he was generous in praise of Humphrey then and on occasions.

Johnson might well select Humphrey for his broad knowledge of public affairs, his energy and zest, and his proven ability as a campaigner.

McCarthy is a bit more of a Johnson protégé, a graceful and attractive figure whose Roman Catholic faith might strengthen the ticket among some ethnic groups. He has more Southern support.

Johnson might decide he would prefer a running mate not quite so apt to be bursting with ideas and so ebullient.

Johnson Signs Highway Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a $2.4-billion highway bill and said it will help do justice to a stepchild in society, the American motorist.

The bill authorizes a two-year federal highway construction program, mainly for primary and secondary roads and not including the super-highways, starting in the 1966 fiscal year.

"For much too long," Johnson said, "the man who owns and drives an automobile has been treated like a stepchild. We require him to pay for the highways he uses and we require him to pay in advance. We divert his taxes to other uses but we delay the building of the roads that he deserves."

"I hope and I believe that our attitudes are changing."

The bill - signing ceremony took place in the White House Cabinet room with the secretaries of interior, agriculture and commerce on hand along with 30 or 40 members of the Senate and House.

Construction of the multibillion-dollar 41,000-mile interstate highway system is already covered by the Federal Highway Act of 1961. That act authorizes $2.8 billion for the program in the 1966 fiscal year and $2.9 billion in the 1967 fiscal year.

The bill signed by the President today authorizes funds for primary and secondary projects for fiscal 1966 and 1967.

Under the primary and secondary system, the federal government pays 45 per cent of the cost of projects on the primary highways, 30 per cent on secondary highways and 25 per cent on extensions in urban areas.

The federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of the interstate highway system.

The librarian of Congress is appointed by the U.S. president.

MANISTIQUE

MR. AND MRS. Victor J. Haas of Indian Lake State Park, Manistique announce the engagement of their daughter, Nyela Ann to Jerry Michael De Jong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sieuwke De Jong of Holland Michigan. Nyela Ann is a student at Chic University of Cosmetology in Grand Rapids. She will graduate in October. Mr. De Jong is a graduate of Ferris State College and is employed in the drafting department of the Bliss company in Hastings, Michigan. The wedding will be in February.

Chips And Splinters

Gordon F. Staley, U.S. Navy recruiting officer who with his wife, Ann made many friends in the Escanaba area while he was stationed here, is now serving in Guam—from where he sends a clipping that will be of interest to Daily Press readers.

But more of that a little later. First a report on the Staleys:

"We will be on Guam until April of next year. The time has passed quite fast and before we know it we will be on our way back."

"Both of us were back in the States last August for a month. Ann was flown back to the Naval Hospital in Oakland, Calif., for back surgery and I went back on emergency leave.

The operation on Ann was a success. Since then she has had a run of tough luck on other things and right now is on crutches due to an operation on her foot. Really getting an overhaul."

The Staleys have made few off-island trips but they hope to get to Japan before next April.

"So far we have been fortunate in not having any real bad typhoons hit us," he wrote. "One sure ruined our day last Christmas though. Quite a few have been kicking up this season but they have been near misses so far as Guam is concerned."

And now about the clipping, which Staley sends from a recent issue of Navy Times, headlined "CG Cutter Escanaba Salutes Namesake." The story is datelined New Bedford, Mass.

"The officers and crew of the Coast Guard cutter Escanaba paid homage to the memory of another cutter of the same name that was sunk in the Davis Strait on June 13, 1943, with a loss of 101 of the 103 aboard."

"The commanding officer of today's Escanaba, Comdr. James W. Moreau, related the history of the earlier Escanaba's role as convoy vessel on the Greenland patrol."

"Today's Escanaba is a weather cutter which maintains station in the Atlantic to obtain meteorological data for the Weather Bureau and to serve as control points for trans-oceanic aircraft."

"The ceremony took place while the cutter was on ocean station Bravo, near the site of the World War II disaster An Escanaba honor guard fired a volley while a memorial wreath was dropped into the sea."

Beatles Banned From SF Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The fashionable Fairmont Hotel has shut its doors to the Beatles.

Spokesmen said Thursday that the hotel atop the city's Nob Hill has canceled the shaggy-haired singing group's reservations "without regret."

The British rock 'n' rollers were to check into the hotel Tuesday. They'll appear Wednesday night at a Cow Palace concert that has been sold out for months.

Firm Has Home Projects In Both Florida, Mich.

Goldthorpe Enterprises at Helmer, in the heart of a lake-spotted vacation area, had its beginnings in 1930 as a logging operation, which has expanded several times and now includes land and subdivision developments as well as supply of building materials.

In 1935 the founder, James F. Goldthorpe added a saw-mill to his operations and in 1937, a planing mill. Development to a lumber and building supply yard followed. Now buildings and land developments in Michigan and Florida are included in scope of operations.

The firm operates as a corporation with Goldthorpe and his sons, Robert D. and James C. Goldthorpe as members. At the time of incorporation in 1960, the firm also became agent for National Homes. The company does home designing. The staff includes a superintendent of construction and eight others.

Creek Dammed
Projects underway include a subdivision development at Newberry, where two more houses are being built this year, making a total of eight. The land was acquired in 1962 and at the time was the only FHA approved subdivision in Northern Michigan.

Plans have been made to develop two other subdivisions, in the Newberry area and in the Manistique Lakes area.

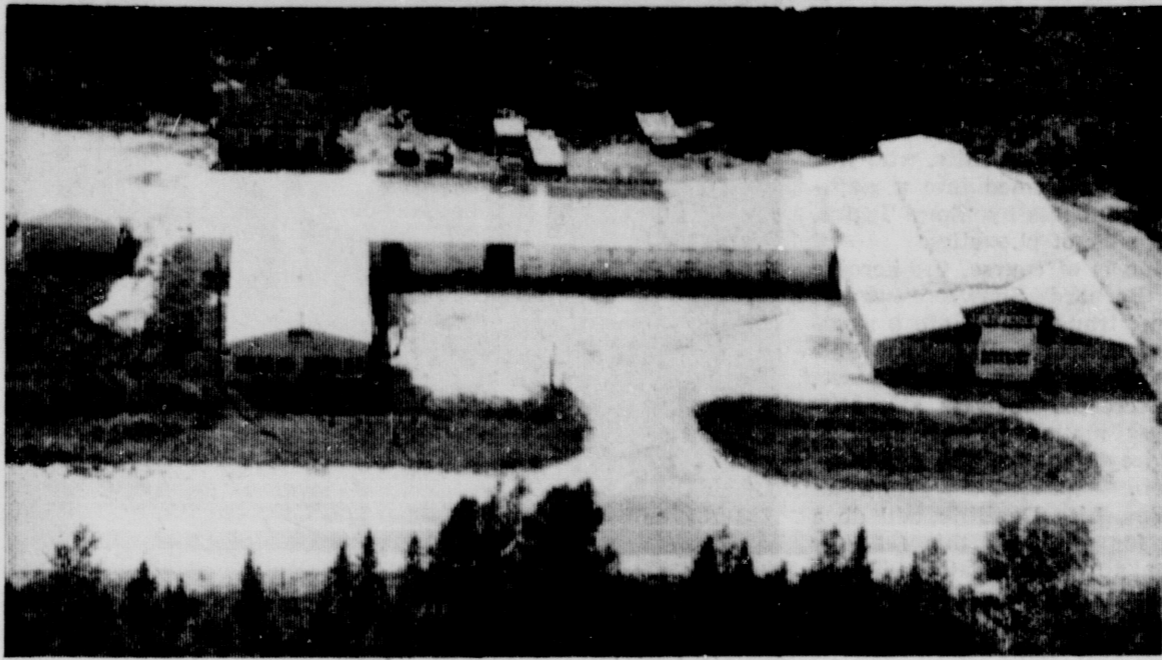

In 1961, the firm acquired a tract outside Mount Dora, Florida, 26 miles from Orlando and is developing "a little U.P." for retirees from Upper Michigan. The company is selling lots and building homes and is damming a creek to create a lake. It will be a modern, selective subdivision. Plans for building a rest home there are also being considered. The area is in central Florida, at the highest elevation in the state, in the center of citrus growing area.

Active In Community
The lumber yard at Helmer is distributor for all major manufacturers of building products. It also handles western and native lumber and concrete products. Counseling in home financing is provided.

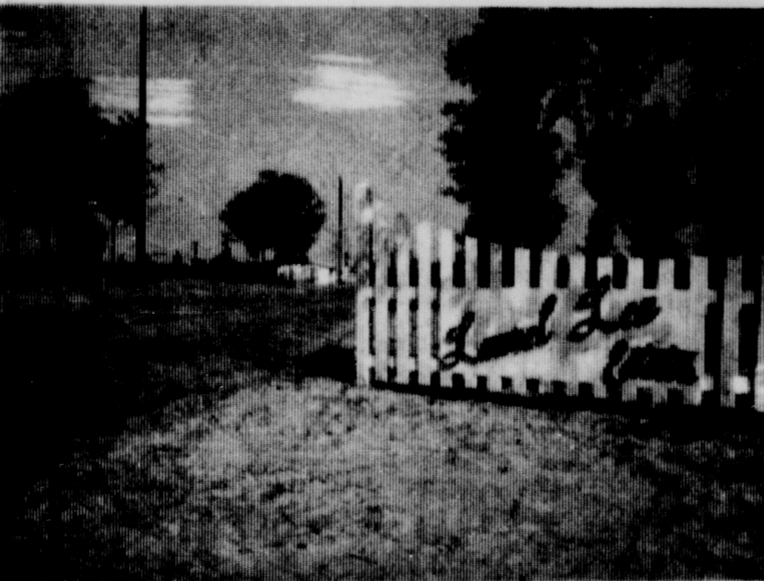

House moving has been a feature of the firm's business and at one time was a larger part of it. It started, says Goldthorpe, when he moved his own house and area people saw it could be done. The firm also developed a system of pre-constructed homes, in which the house was moved in one piece. However, highway department regulations limited this operation to 10 miles.

Goldthorpe's has a rental subdivision near K. I. Sawyer AFB. Twenty-two homes were moved in to create it.

Goldthorpe is active in civic affairs and serves as chairman of the Luce County hospital commission. He also is a member of the Newberry Lions club. His son, James serves on the township school board and Robert serves on the board for Lakefield Baptist Church.

THIS IS THE Michigan home of Goldthorpe Enterprises at Helmer. It was founded in 1930 and has expanded from a logging operation to full scale land and building developments.

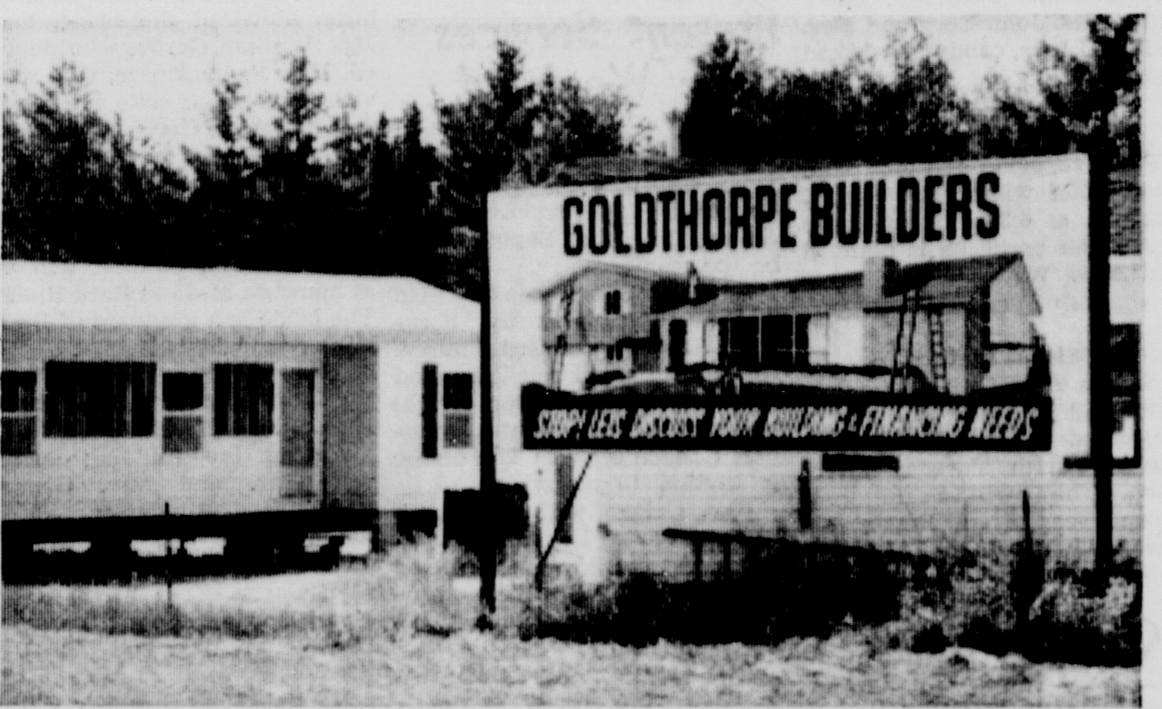

THIS IS THE development of Goldthorpe Enterprises near Mount Dora, Florida, where a little U.P. settlement is being developed for retirees. A creek is being dammed to provide a lake. The location is near Orlando.

JAMES Goldthorpe, founder of the firm, has developed Goldthorpe Enterprises from a logging firm to its present operations in both Michigan and Florida. He came to this area from Detroit. He and sons, James and Robert corporately operate the firm now.

A NEW subdivision is being formed at Newberry by Goldthorpe Enterprises. Two new houses are being added to the six already built.

THIS ATTRACTIVE sign has been newly installed at Goldthorpe Enterprises headquarters at Helmer, in the heart of tourist vacation area.

Harris High School Classes Hold Reunion

SCHAFER—Members of the class of 1944 of Harris High School were hosts to the 1943 graduates at a 20th anniversary reunion held Saturday evening at Potvin's Fireside Room.

The evening's activities opened with a cocktail hour followed by dinner. Allan Burkardt was master of ceremonies of the reunion program, assisted by Don Lewis. Mrs. Ray Michel, the former Mary Margaret Kilb, gave a brief history of the class of '44 and Mrs. John Chernick (Irene Kleiman) read the will of the class of '43.

Prizes were presented by Mrs. Ray Morin (Naomi Flynn) and Mrs. Chester White (Bernice Marsieck) to: Thomas Grenfell, married the longest; Elaine Taylor Gauthier, most children; Walter Sharkey, most gray hair; Fred Pirlot, least hair; Mary Margaret Kilb Michel, newest baby; Betty Flynn McDermott, most recently married.

'My Fair Lady' Is Big News In Millinery

The big news in millinery this fall will not be made by a designer or a manufacturer, or a model, or even a retailer. It will be made by a bedraggled little Cockney flower-seller named Eliza Doolittle, who was once transformed into a glamorous duchess by 'Enry Iggin, professor of phonetics.

She is of course, the heroine of Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," transformed into a glorious musical called "My Fair Lady," by Lerner and Lowe, and created anew in a scintillating motion picture starring Audrey Hepburn and Rex Harrison.

Yes, Liza Doolittle will do a lot for millinery this fall, for thanks to Cecil Beaton who designed more than 150 delicious period hats for the film, the "My Fair Lady" look will be sweeping the country come September.

The industry has taken its inspiration this season—not so much from the elegant and joyous feeling of "My Fair Lady." Top designers, exhilarated by the early days of this century, when Liza peddled her posies and ladies were ladies and dressed that way, and every-body wore a hat, have interpreted the look of that palmy time in terms of 1964.

The hats have the magic capable of transforming millions of American Lizas into the glamorous sprites of their dreams. American women are going to take "My Fair Lady" to their heads as well as their hearts.

Oakie Brumm, named this week as coach of the new Marquette Iron Rangers in the United States Hockey League, has an impressive list of credentials in his background. Brumm was an outstanding hockey player at the University of Michigan, coached the sport at the University of Wyoming and the University of Alaska. He returned to Marquette to organize the Marquette Prison recreation program and served as coach of the Marquette Sentinels until 1961 when he organized the Des Moines Oak Leafs and coached the team in the USHL for one year, moving over to Waterloo the following year.

Marinette Marines, who will play Hamms in an exhibition game here Sunday night, lashed Lou & Jerry's 20-4 in their Twin City softball league outing. Glenn Bunda slammed four hits in five trips, including a homerun. Ron Sterio tossed the victory.

Forrest Coleman, former star Menominee prep football player and a graduate of Northern Michigan University, has been named head football coach at Goodman High School.

Mead Paper Mill of Escanaba will face Copper Country Dairy in an opener of the Upper Peninsula Class A softball tournament at Crystal Falls Friday Aug. 28, at 9 p.m. Marquette and Iron Mountain No. 1 teams will play the first game at 7:30. The Copper Country Dairy team recently won a pair of games at Marquette Prison, beating the inside team 3-2 and the outside team 6-3. Bob Williams and Bob Snell pitched the victories.

First foe on the Escanaba Eskymo football schedule this fall will be the Menominee Maroons, one of the school's oldest athletic rivals. The two teams have met 66 times since 1897 with Menominee winning 33, Escanaba 30 and three games ending in ties. Escanaba, however has won the last five in a row. This year's opener at Menominee will be played Sept. 5 starting at 8 p.m.

Bill Sundell, former outstanding Marquette softball twirler, has had a highly successful season on the mound for 616 Club of Green Bay. He recently tossed a two-hitter as his team whipped Esquire Bar 14-1 for a perfect 12-0 record in the Major AAA League.

Dave Manders former Kingsford and Michigan State football star, saw action for the Dallas Cowboys in their NFL exhibition game against the Los Angeles Rams last weekend.

Art Marcell, former Norway athlete is playing baseball for Sioux Falls in South Dakota this summer. A Western Michigan University athlete, Marcell recently drove in the winning run as Sioux Falls edged Pierre 3-2 in a 19 inning marathon.

Three former Upper Peninsula athletes are among the 79 football players invited to Michigan State's first football practice Sept. 1. Among the 13 ends is sophomore Mike Dissinger of Manistiquie. Among the 13 guards is sophomore Bob Bralley of Soo. And among the 15 tackles is junior Jack Schindler of Iron River.

Another former Upper Peninsula athlete who will be back in action in college football this fall is Larry Bartolomeo, a 6 foot 4 inch 260 pound senior center at Western Michigan University. He's a former Iron Mountain standout.

New York Yankees Purchased By CBS

By BOB GREEN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System was set today to complete the purchase of the New York Yankees, the richest and most famous franchise in sports, in a sensational maneuver that could place the network behind the closed doors of baseball's highest council chambers.

As owners of the Yankees, the dominant team in baseball for 40 years, CBS presumably would gain full voting rights in American and major league matters.

That includes an upcoming Monday night television package deal during prime viewing time that could bring as much as $20 million. The network has not yet been selected. CBS, as owner of the Yankees, apparently would have equal voting rights with all other major league teams.

Robin Roberts Could Be Key In Both Loops

By The Associated Press

Robin Roberts, sold by the Phillies as over the hill and released by the Yankees without a look, could be a key man in the future of each of those ball clubs.

The 37-year-old right-hander scored his 10th victory of the year Thursday night, a four-hit effort over seven innings in a 7-1 triumph over Boston that put his Baltimore Orioles in excellent shape for the crucial series with the New York Yankees starting tonight.

The victory increased Baltimore's American League lead to three full games — its biggest in a month — and, at this stage of the season, made a Baltimore-Philadelphia World Series increasingly likely.

The Phillies, for whom Roberts won 230 games in 14 seasons, dropped a 3-1 decision to Chicago in the only National League game scheduled but were still 3½ games ahead of the pack, a hard-to-catch lead at this stage of the season.

Minnesota whipped Detroit 6-3 and the New York Yankees stayed within 3½ games of Baltimore with a 5-2 edge over second-place Chicago in the only other games on the major league schedule.

The victory concluded an unhappily important home stand for the Yankees in which they:

1. Lost a share of the league lead when they dropped a four-game set to Baltimore, three games to one.

2. Salvaged only two games

The organizational meeting followed a trip by Tobin, City Manager George Harvey and Atty. Dean Shipman to New Town, N.D. recently to see the races on a Missouri River impoundment staged by Unlimiteds, Inc. in the racing series that is climaxed each year by the Gold Cup Races.

After the Gold Cup Races July 5 at Detroit the big hydroplanes were taken on a tour that included the Dakota Cup races at New Town, the Diamond Cup at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, and others.

It is the purpose of Bay de Noc Races to get on this racing circuit.

Jim Herrington, owner of the Mariner Boat Works at Mt. Clemens, Mich., and owner of the hydroplane Mariner Too, which he showed here at the House of Representatives recently enroute to New Town, plans to be here in the weekend with his racing pilot to confer with members of the new promotion.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with Major Hoople OUT OUR WAY

by J. R. Williams

Tributes Paid To Michigan's John Bennett

WASHINGTON (AP) — House colleagues paid tribute Thursday night to Rep. John B. Bennett, R-Mich., who died Sunday of cancer.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., called Bennett a "most able legislator who led a constructive and productive life" and made "solid contributions on vital legislation."

Ford said Bennett, who was ranking Republican on the Interstate Commerce Committee, was fearless and unbiased and "spearheaded many important investigations that were for the public good."

Rep. Victor A. Knox, R-Mich., said he and Bennett worked closely together representing northern Michigan and he found him a "stalwart and capable legislator."

"John Bennett gave his life to a career of distinguished public service," Knox added.

Acting Minority Leader Leslie Arends, R-Ill., and others also paid tribute to Bennett, as did Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the commerce committee.

Harris said "when John Bennett passed away I lost a part of my life. For many years he sat next to me in the committee. We were very close. He was a worthy adversary."

Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., House majority leader, said Bennett was "a gentleman in all the finest connotations of that word."

Bennett, 60, was buried Thursday in Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Silver Spring, Md., after a funeral mass at Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church in Bethesda, Md.

Venetian Night Success Here

Crowds watched and applauded the Venetian Night sponsored by the Escanaba Yacht Club last night at the yacht basin in conjunction with a concert by the City Band.

The parade of gaily decorated and colorfully lighted boats, lead by Walter Doehler's power craft reflected in the calm water. The Venetian Night had been postponed from the night previous because of bad weather.

Cecil Collins directed the City Band in a program of appropriate music beginning at 8 o'clock and the boats began their parade at 8:30.

Earl Owen and Victor Nelson were co-chairmen of the program for the Yacht Club. Others assisting were Bob DeGrand, Harold Meiers, Francis Boyce and Jack Foster.

Boatmen and members of the Band gathered in the Clubhouse after the program to enjoy coffee and rolls served by Mrs. Victor Nelson and Mrs. Don Crawford.

Higgins Endorsed For Governor

BLISSFIELD (AP) — State Sen. Elmer Porter, R-Blissfield, Thursday endorsed Ferndale auto dealer George N. Higgins for governor.

Higgins, a former state senator, is vying with incumbent Gov. George W. Romney for the Republican nomination in the Sept. 1 primary.

Porter, who said he has never endorsed any candidate in 28 years in politics, made the announcement at a Blissfield Kiwanis luncheon while introducing Higgins.

Briefly Told

Escanaba police have issued Michael A. Donovan, Rapid River, Rte. 2, and Robert T. DeMille, 1409 S. 20th Ave., traffic court summonses for speeding.

Application for a marriage license was made with County Clerk William Butler by James Allen Kennedy, Menasha, Wis., and Sandra Lee Reubens, 414 Michigan Ave., Gladstone.

A meeting to organize a Citizens Band Radio Club will be held Sunday at 4:30 p.m. in Red Cross headquarters, 1113 Ludington St. All interested persons are invited and those who wish further information may call Harold Neumann, ST 6-2549.

Dried On Phone Line WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A Wichita housewife had to ask the phone company to bring in her wash.

The woman hung a shirt on a utility line at her house to dry. A stiff wind quickly dried it — and blew it along the line to the top of a utility pole. The phone company sent out a repairman to retrieve the wash.

JOHN MARCOE, 15, of 1416 N. 16th St., and Bill Rudden, 16, of 1518 Stephenson Ave., have converted their bicycles, with the aid of welder friends to "high and dry" bikes by inverting the frame to put the pedals higher and then lofting the seat and steering wheel by extensions. They got the idea from an article in Mechanics Illustrated Magazine about two brothers in St. Petersburg, Fla., who created giraffe type bikes by such conversions. (Daily Press Photo)

Launch 44th Nuclear Sub

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Polaris - firing nuclear submarine Casimir Pulaski joins the U.S. fleet today after a commissioning ceremony that will include a message from President Johnson.

Johnson's message is to be broadcast from the White House (at about 2:30 p.m. EDT) to the yards of the Electric Boat Division of the General Dynamics Corp.

Postmaster General John A. Gronowski is to speak at the ceremony.

The Polaski, the 44th nuclear submarine to join the fleet, is named for a Polish general who was killed while fighting for the colonies in the American Revolutionary War.

RFK Backed By Delegates

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy apparently has a sure majority of the delegates to the Democratic state convention to win the nomination for U.S. senator.

Counties regarded in his corner, or leaning toward him, have more than 700 delegates to the convention here Sept. 1. This tally, however, does not mean that support in all these counties would be solid.

There will be 1,144 delegate votes and 573 will be needed for nomination.

Kennedy has not announced for the nomination, and has said he would not consider running without "express approval" by New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Wagner, the state's top-ranking Democrat, speaks highly of Kennedy but has not endorsed him.

Backers of Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam are continuing to fight for the nomination. Stratton, who says he is not a declared candidate, claims party support in 35 of the state's 62 counties. Most of the 35 are small.

The nomination is for the seat held by Republican Kenneth B. Keating, who says he hasn't made up his mind whether he will seek a second term. However, he has the backing of the Republican state organization and is generally regarded as a candidate.

Dead Pilot Said U.S. Can Win War

MOUNT PLEASANT, Tex. (AP) — A Texas pilot killed this week when his helicopter was shot down in Viet Nam told his hometown newspaper recently:

"The American boys over there (Viet Nam) know that the war can be won. They're just not sure how yet."

Killed when his craft was shot down by ground fire Wednesday was 1st Lt. Harold L. McNeil, 30, of Mount Pleasant. McNeil went to Viet Nam in March. He was hit by a bullet while flying a mission and came home for 30 days before returning. It was then he had the interview with the Mount Pleasant Times.

School Millage Down Slightly At Bark River

The Bark River-Harris Board of Education meeting Tuesday evening set the millage for Debt Retirement at 8.2 mills. This is the same as has been collected since the new elementary school was built.

For operations, the Board has asked that 19.75 mills be levied. It is significant to note that this is .25 mills less than could be levied in the Bark River-Harris District. When levying less millage than could be collected, the Board of Education felt that the constituents of the school district should realize any tax relief they could provide.

The Board believes through careful purchasing and management, the school district can save enough funds to pass the 25 mill saving back to the citizens of the Bark River-Harris Townships.

In other action, sealed bids on gasoline, fuel oil, and fleet insurance were opened. The Bark River Oil Co. received the contract to supply gasoline for 1964-65 at 15.4 per gallon.

The Standard Oil Co. was granted the fuel oil deliveries for 1964-65 at 10.67c per gallon.

The Farm Bureau Insurance Co. submitted the low bid on fleet insurance. Their premium was $366.63 for the 1964-65 school year.

The Board found it necessary to raise the price of hot lunch meals 2 1/2c for pupils, and 5c for teachers. The action had to be taken to meet rising food costs and reduced government commodities. The lunch price will be 17 1/2c for elementary students and 20c for high school students. These prices are still below the average prices charged for school lunches in this area.

The Board of Education also authorized Supt. Richard Hendra to renew the annual contract with Town and County Motors of Kingsford for a driver education car, and to work out the details on the purchase of a new school bus for a December delivery. The new bus is slated to replace a 1954 unit, which needs extensive repairs, and has a limited seating capacity.

Legal Counsel Hottest Issue At Judge Meet

LANSING (AP) — The right of persons without funds to have legal counsel provided by the state will be a key topic at the Michigan Supreme Court's annual judges meeting at Mackinac Island Aug. 16-19.

Several eminent jurists, including Justice Potter Stewart of the U.S. Supreme Court, government attorneys, corrections officials and law school representatives will attend the gathering.

The theme of the conference is "administration of Criminal Justice."

Chief Justice Thomas Kavanagh, of the Michigan court, termed the subject "particularly appropriate" in view of a recent U.S. Supreme Court finding on the right to legal counsel. The court held that the state has an obligation to make certain all persons, including those without funds to hire a lawyer, are given adequate counsel.

Michigan has provided counsel for years under a court rule, imposed by the State Supreme Court in 1948. Another rule, which became effective Aug. 1, extends this right to appeals.

Numerous county and state officials have expressed concern over the potential cost to government of carrying out the ruling.

Kavanagh said state courts, "working together with other law enforcement agencies, must find the most feasible and effective means of discharging this responsibility."

He noted that the issue assumed greater significance because Michigan's new constitution guarantees an automatic appeal to the new State Appellate Court to any person convicted of a crime.

FLOOR PLANS: Excellent traffic circulation is the keynote of this traditional house, notable also for the large amount of closet and storage space.

H-44 STATISTICS
H-44 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, laundry, family room, foyer, four bedrooms, two baths and a lavatory, a two-car garage and an optional patio. The first floor has 1219 square feet of habitable area, the second floor 945 square feet. Not included in those statistics are the covered front entrance portico, the garage and the basement. The over-all dimensions are 54' 5" by 34' 4". The garage doors can be located at the side or the front.

TRADITIONAL PLUS: Basic features of Early American architecture are retained in this four-bedroom, two-story house, which has been given a fresh character by modern design touches and materials.

FAMILY ROOM: The obvious charm of this family room is enhanced by the sliding glass doors, which provide a pleasant view as well as easy accessibility to the patio.

Women Should Love It

By ANDY LANG
One of the encouraging housing trends of recent years has been the increasing recognition given by architects and builders to the opinions of women.

Somewhere along the line, it was discovered belatedly that it's the women who spend more time in the home than any one else in the family and that they have a pretty good idea of what's needed there. More and more features suggested by the ladies at homemakers' conferences, national and regional, are being incorporated in houses throughout the country.

Architect Herman York has attended many of these conferences, in some cases in an official capacity. He decided to design a house incorporating a large number of the items the women have said they want in their homes. Design H-44, the latest in the House of the Week series, is the result. It's a four-bedroom, two-story house of traditional design, using an exterior of stone and wood shingle sidewalls. Wide roof overhangs not only add to the over-all length of the house but reduce maintenance costs due to the protection of the sidewalls from the weather.

This departure from traditional detail is one of the features which distinguish a traditional house built today from those erected 200 years ago. An immediate appearance of freshness is created without sacrificing the character of Early American domestic architecture.

A close examination of the floor plans discloses the many interior features women want in their homes. They include such things as a large pantry near the kitchen, a mud closet near the back door, a lavatory for children near the kitchen and garage, a generous foyer with a large coat closet, a covered front entrance portico, lots of closets and plenty of storage space, a separate dining room and a linen chute from the upper bedroom area. These are in addition to such basics as good traffic circulation, ample wall space, cross ventilation where possible and ready access to the rear patio for family cookouts.

Design H-44 has all of these and many more. There are 1219 square feet of habitable area on the first floor, with the living room and its attractive bay window at the front of the house, directly to the left of the foyer. The dining room adjoins both the kitchen and the living room and has double windows at the rear. There is also plenty of eating space in the kitchen with a bay window overlooking the outside. The large family room has a fireplace and sliding glass doors leading to the terrace. A strategically located door makes it possible to go directly to the family room from the two-car garage. If the plot is large enough to allow a curved driveway, the garage doors can be placed at the side; if not, at the front. Architect York's plans permit either location.

All four bedrooms are on the second floor. There is one bathroom in the main bedroom, another outside. This second one is extra special, being 12 feet in length and having a special door arrangement so that more than one person might utilize the room if necessary. The amount of closet space is the answer to a housewife's dream.

There are five closets in the bedrooms, another for linens and another for the vacuum cleaner and miscellaneous equipment, in addition to storage cabinet space in the bathrooms.

This is a house with detail beyond the minimum. It includes not only the items women want in a house, but those which reflect the business success of the owner.

if your roof is over 15 years old

You'd Better Check With Your Local BIRD Roofing Dealer Now

... because most shingles start to curl and crack, get bald spots and small weak areas after 15 years or more . . . and, if a bad storm suddenly starts serious leaks, it's important for you to choose the best kind of roof for your home.

To help you be prepared, we'd like to show you Bird's new, self-sealing WIND SEAL shingles. They have scientifically spaced cement areas under the edge of every shingle. The sun's heat automatically makes this cement grip like iron . . . so your roof is automatically welded together at more than 19,000 points (average size home).

Result . . . a roof that even hurricane winds can't damage because shingle tabs can't flap up . . . moisture can't back up underneath. Come in and see Bird's WIND SEAL shingles today!

Fall Fertilizer Good In Certain Local Conditions

Whether fertilizer should be applied in the fall is still an open question, but J. L. Heirman, Delta County Extension director, says farmers may well consider it as long as they understand that some crops respond to fall fertilization better than others.

Alfalfa is usually more winter-hardy when it is well fed and not suffering nutrient deficiency when it goes into the winter. Crops such as peas and oats, which are planted early in the spring, often times respond to fall applied fertilizer.

Heirman says soils which respond best to fall fertilization are those which are (1) level, but relatively low in fertility; (2) Erosion-resistant; (3) well-drained; (4) high in organic matter; (5) Have good tilth and deep top soil; and are relatively high in clay content.

Because fall is the slack season for fertilizer manufacturing many companies and elevators are able to offer price discounts ranging from $3 to $7 per ton. If the farmer has more time in the fall, this could mean an additional saving.

Where fall plowing is used, plow down fertilizer must be applied in the fall, but sandy and organic soils may lose nitrogen and potassium applied in the fall before it can be used by the crop the following growing season.
